

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please delete the Abstract on page 33 and replace it with the following:

--A support for a medication cartridge provided with one or more electronically readable items of information carrying areas is disclosed. The support disclosed has a number of closely spaced mutually electrically insulated conductors embedded in an electrically insulating material. The support is useful in assisting reading the item of information stored on the outside of the medication containing cartridge.--